

International Trade/Development Economics Visiting Speaker Series 2004-2005

During their stays, the visitors will give two to four 90 minutes talks on their research. The talks are primarily targeted to second-year graduate students, but the faculty is also invited to attend. Graduate students interested in taking the series for credit should be registered into Independent Study 499 under Kiminori Matsuyama for SPRING 2005.

In Winter Quarter, all the talks will take place in the Lecture Room (AAH 3245), Monday and Wednesday, 11-12:30. (This is the same room and the same time slot for my Econ 425. My classes during their visits will be rescheduled. The time and location for the make-up classes will be discussed at the time of my first class.)

Week 6 Marc Melitz (Harvard)
(Feb 7-11)

Week 10 Olivier Jeanne (IMF)
(Mar 7-11)

In Spring Quarter, all the talks will take place in the Seminar Room (AAH 3204), Monday and Wednesday, 2-3:30.

Week 1 & 2 Matthias Doepke (UCLA)
(Mar 29-Apr 8)

Week 3 & 4 Marcel Fafchamps (Oxford)
(Apr 11-22)

In addition, Helene Rey (Princeton), --last year, she was scheduled to visit for two weeks but had to give all four lectures in one week--, will come back for another week this spring (Week 5, April 25-29). She will not give any lecture this time.
